ABSTRACT: Many supermarkets are *selling* phone cards at customer service counters, but other stores *sell* them at the checkout register, and stores with sufficient space may use *vending* *machines*. Phone card *sales* have mushroomed since 1990, and *analysts* predict the total may reach $2 billion by year-end 1996. The profit margin runs...

...supermarket customers appreciate the convenience. Phone cards are also given away as promotional items for *purchasers* of designated products.

... useful insight into product and market developments. Advertising in these periodicals also can help a *subscriber* locate distribution assistance or other business support services. Trade shows are very popular in Japan and represent an excellent opportunity for U.S. exporters to meet *vending* *machine* operators and product *distributors* and to *collect* *information* about industry trends and the latest products being marketed by other companies. The premier trade show for the *vending* *machine* market is the *Vending* Industry Fair, which is held every two years. The next one will take place in the fall of 1992.
